National Flood Insurance Program Names McMahon & Hadder Agency of the Year

Pensacola, FL-McMahon-Hadder Insurance Inc., a Pensacola-based company, has been named the 2009 National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) Agency of the Year.

The award cited the “agency wide, technology-driven, proactive service” McMahon-Hadder rendered to clients in the aftermath of hurricanes Ivan and Dennis. NFIP, a component of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), noted in the award that the agency, which is “automated, paperless, internet-linked,” assessed frequent flood risk for every client.

“We are honored to be singled out for this award,” said Donald McMahon, agency president. “At McMahon-Hadder we strive to offer our clients the absolute best service. Our clients benefit from our agency’s catastrophe planning because we stay local and personally available. By maintaining contact with both our clients and our insurance companies with Internet accessible files, we are able to assist with claims during a storm.”

The NFIP provides flood insurance in more than 20,000 communities through the U.S., representing more than 5.5 million policyholders. NFIP annually recognizes notable agencies that support the flood insurance program.

McMahon-Hadder is a full service, multi-line agency that has met the insurance needs of more than 5,000 individuals and families while offering commercial insurance and risk management to more than 100 business customers in northwest Florida since 1999.
